Local High School Students Tour State Prison

PEARL – A group of high school students were given the opportunity to see what life in a state prison looks like – up close and personal.

The Central Mississippi Correctional Facility hosted a tour of 28 students and two adults from Brandon-Rankin County School's Law and Public Safety Class.

Stops on the tour included Area I, intake at the RC center, housing for new arrivals, the RC dining hall, the Youthful Offender Unit, Area II, and the Programs area, where students visited computer business, HVAC training, and carpentry classes.

Whitney Tuura told prison officials she appreciated CMCF Supt. Matt Reynolds and staff for allowing her students to tour the facility. She has had previous classes to tour the facility and told prison officials that the experience for her students is always interesting.
