Delta prison women inmates inspired with performance

GREENWOOD – While watching a performance of "Jesus Paid It All: Good Friday Reflections," the women at Delta Correctional Facility were challenged to reflect on their own journeys through pride and shame toward a path of freedom and spiritual deliverance.

The reenactment traced the path from the Last Supper to the Resurrection, brought to life through the perspectives of those who knew Jesus best. Deeply personal monologues from Mary Magdalene, Peter, and Judas explored the universal human experiences of grief, denial, and betrayal.

Enhanced by live music and praise dance from DCF's own band and dance troupe, the program ended with a powerful Reader's Theatre piece.
