Officers making friends forms bond with next generation

HOLLY SPRINGS – Schoolchildren in grades K-6 in Marshall County had the chance to meet officers from the Marshall County Correctional Facility one-on-one as the facility participated in Safety Day 2026 at the Marshall County Fairgrounds in Holly Springs.

Superintendent Frank Caswell said he and his officers had a great time showcasing CID investigators, the K9 unit and its dogs, talking to the kids about how bad drugs are, and showing how drones work. He estimated as many as 400 children attended.

"We did two different K9 demonstrations showing off K9 Huk, Vino, and General," Caswell said. "It was an awesome event and a great opportunity to connect with the community and the younger generation."
