Project Pat featured at Marshall state prison

HOLLY SPRINGS – Marshall County Correctional Facility hosted Memphis rapper Project Pat.

"It was a great honor to witness firsthand the transformative power of God in his life," Supt. Frank Caswell said. "His testimony inspired the men at MCCF with a renewed sense of hope and purpose."

Project Pat has become known for visiting prisons and delivering motivational speeches. Over 700 people attended the Marshall County event, according to Caswell.

Caswell said many recited the sinner's prayer and said they committed their hearts to Jesus. Additionally, 24 men were baptized.
