

Pike County CWC inmates celebrate graduation in Basic Manufacturing Training Program

PIKE COUNTY – The Mississippi Department of Corrections recognizes the graduates of the Basic Manufacturing Training Program at the Pike County Community Work Center.

Through a commitment to personal growth, these participants have developed valuable manufacturing skills that will help prepare them for meaningful employment and a successful transition back into their communities.

"Workforce training is about more than earning a certificate," said Program Team Lead Petrice Adams. "It creates opportunities, builds confidence, strengthens career readiness, and opens doors to a brighter future. We are proud of each graduate for taking this important step toward long-term success."

A special thank you to the instructors and staff of Southwest Mississippi Community College, along with our workforce partners, for investing in these participants and helping make second-chance opportunities possible.

Congratulations to all of the four graduates: Inmates James Steven, William Newsome, Charlie Joseph, and Terrell Robinson! Two other participants have since left the facility.
