Scenes from Mississippi Parole Project at CMCF

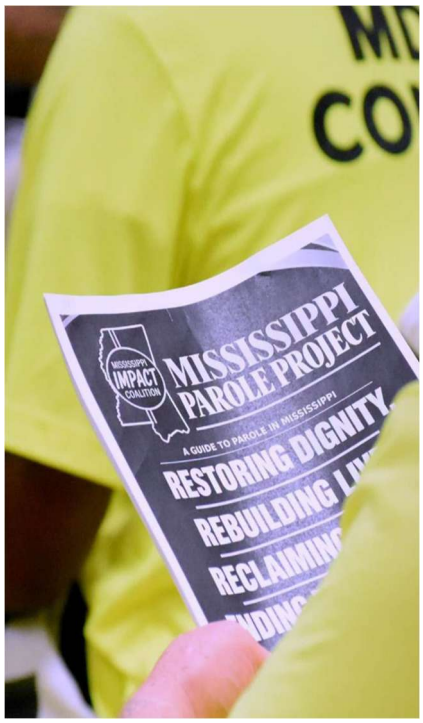

PEARL – Organizers and advocates partnered with the community to host the event focused on legal rights, reentry readiness, and personal empowerment.

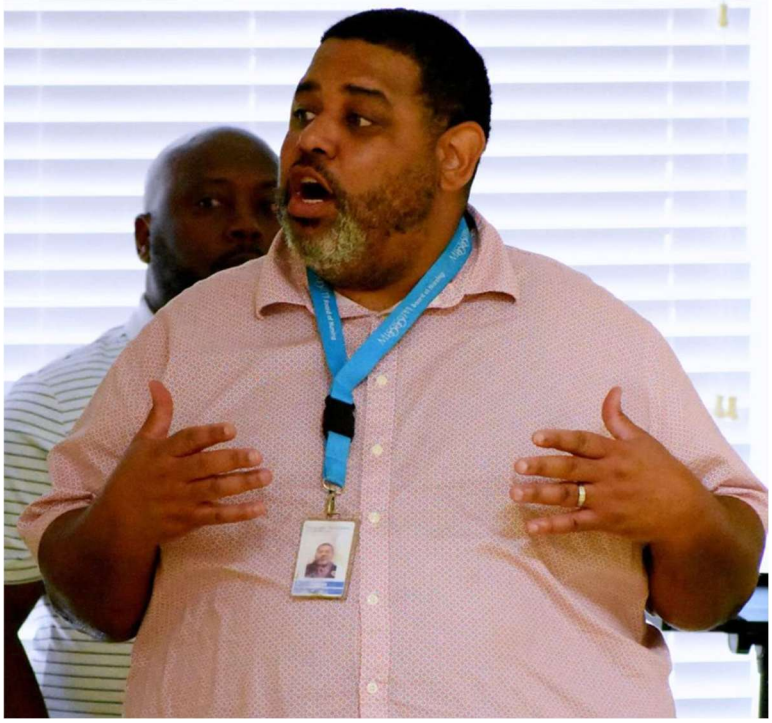

The workshop focused on providing clear, accurate information about complex institutional guidelines. Navigating the legalities of the justice system can often feel overwhelming, but representatives from the Coalition worked directly with inmates to demystify certain rights.

Speakers noted that many individuals are already eligible or close to eligibility but lack a clear roadmap for preparing their files. By breaking down the specific steps required to petition courts and build successful reentry files, the presentation gave inmates actionable steps to take control of their legal journeys.

In addition to parole preparation, the Coalition provided information on voting rights. Organizers explained that certain offenses do not strip away voting rights and that specific pathways, such as suffrage bills, exist for rights restoration.
